March 2: "The Message of Islam: What Can We Learn?", by Rev. Jody Wheldon, community minister

Knowing the history of a religion helps us understand its message. Both believers and nonbelievers benefit from a familiarity with these stories. Today, we will work to discern Islam's message threads from Islam's beginnings. This will include Mohammed's remarkable journey as The Prophet, which did not begin until he was about 40 years old. If you are interested in reading ahead, Jody recommends Karen Armstrong's very readable book, Islam: A Short History, a pre-9/11 publication.

March 9: "A Celebration of Transitions," presented by LCUUC 5th grade RE class with Christi Ehler

This service will be a presentation of poems, stories, and music in celebration of completing the first part of LCUUC's "coming of age" curriculum. Transitions Part 1: Identity focuses on the transition from childhood to adolescence. During this special service, you will hear what our young people have to say about themselves and their place in our religious community.

March 16: "Simply Living Simply," by Rev. Linda Berez

Naturalist, Transcendentalist, and author Henry David Thoreau advocated for a simple and sustainable life in his book Walden. Yet, today our American way of life, and our economy, seems to be predicated on the idea that "more is better." Is it? How do we find a balance? Join Rev. Linda Berez as she reflects upon these and other questions related to the ideas of simple living and why these issues are important to Unitarian Universalists.

March 23: "Sun Rise," by Rev. Linda Berez

Come celebrate Easter at Lake Country, Unitarian Universalist style. All are invited to attend this intergenerational service.

March 30: "Darfur," by a speaker from Amnesty International

The speaker from Amnesty International will talk about the continuing crisis in the Darfur region of the Sudan. There will be a special collection to help AI with their relief efforts in this troubled part of the world.

A Note From Our Minister

Greetings,

The first official game of Spring Training for the Milwaukee Brewers was February 28th. As we move into March, the start of Spring Training means to me that spring is in the air, and regardless of how many more inches of snow we have this month, next, or even in May or June, I know that warmer days, and nights at Miller Park, are just around the corner. I realize that for some baseball takes a back seat to football, and like everything else it has its controversies, but the allure of watching the "boys of summer," the crack of the bat, and seeing Bernie come down his slide when Prince Fielder hits a home run, make me feel alive. I hope that, as we begin to leave winter behind us, there are activities and events that you look forward to as well, and that help you feel alive.

And, speaking of feeling alive and those things that help us feel a connection to the earth and each other, I want to remind you of our Fun & Friends Day at the church Saturday, March 15th. This all-day event will have something for everyone. In the afternoon I'll be leading a session on spiritual practices for an hour. The second hour will be a discussion on some of the ideas presented in the new Eckhart Tolle book A New Earth: Awakening To Your Life's Purpose. (Note that reading the book before the discussion is not required.) I'm also looking forward to the "Famous LCUUC Talent Show" in the evening.

On another note, I'd like to invite you to a book discussion on Karen Armstrong's book The Battle for God. The date for the event is Thursday, April 17th at 7 p.m. For this discussion, it will be important to read as much of the book as you can. Please call or email to let me know if you will be there.

Finally, the fourth of the Harry Potter movies will be shown on Saturday, April 12th at 6 p.m. The fifth movie will be in May, and I'll have that date for you next month. I promise to make popcorn and lemonade, as always. To end the series, and because the sixth movie won't be out in theatres until November, I'll explore why the magic of Harry Potter is so interesting to so many people on May 18th when my sermon will be about the theology of Harry Potter. Until then, here's hoping for warmer weather and signs of spring.

Linda

In-house Equipment Sale, March 30 and April 6

We're spring cleaning at LCUUC! Some no-longer-needed items belonging to the church will be for sale after the service on March 30 and April 6. The sale will include such items as a coat rack, lighted jewelry display case, coffee maker, chairs, phone/fax machine, brochure stand, Christmas tree, wallpaper, and more. We hope you will stop by and take home some treasures.

On Board!

With the increase in membership, and increasing e-mails, we again reviewed usage of our church member listserv (e-mail) at the February board meeting. At that time, we decided to see how things played out, but as I write this less than one week later (2/20), the Board is planning to again review the issue. By the time you see this newsletter item, we may have some changes in place regarding e-mail. Current policies can be found in the article on page 7.

At our meeting, Board members also commended Kerry D. for the tremendous work she has done since stepping in as our interim Director of Religious Education (DRE) at the end of November. When you see Kerry, please thank her for her dedicated efforts.

As we noted in last month's newsletter, our Building Committee has recommended that we replace our roof this summer. The Board approved the recommendation in January, and we will hold a special congregational meeting to review and vote on the recommendation at 11:30 a.m. on March 16, just after our service. In short:

- When we purchased the building, we knew that the roof (which is original) would need replacing at some point in the near future.
- Roof repairs and unnecessary heating expenses (due to heat lost through the poorly insulated roof) are costing us several thousand dollars each winter.
- We have the funds available now to replace the roof.

Church members will receive a mailing from Board President Rob S. in early March with more detail, and should plan to attend the March 16 meeting for additional details, discussion, and voting on the proposal.

This is also the time of year when the Finance Committee and the Board prepare the preliminary annual operating budget (our regular annual income & expenses) and budget for special expenses for 2008-09. We have approved a preliminary budget that includes the majority of requests, but it may require revision. A number of necessary expenses will be budgeted at higher levels next year, including the increased costs of maintaining and operating our own office equipment, commercial church (financial) management software, Internet access at the church, and church payroll taxes. Partly offsetting this, if we replace the roof, we can expect substantially lower maintenance and heating costs. We also budgeted money to defray the cost of an overnight retreat next year, so that it is not prohibitively expensive for families, and funds for office administrator support, which would help the church run more smoothly and reduce the workload on volunteers.

On the revenue side, we expect increased donations from our growing membership, and we plan to hold a rummage sale in Spring 2009. Possible challenges: rental income may be reduced unless Lifeways enrollment increases; we do not plan to host an art fair; and we will have less budgetary relief from the Chalice Lighters grant. Members should look to receive more information about the budget and the stewardship campaign (annual pledges for 2008-09) later in March. By mid-May, we should have received all of the 2008-09 pledges, and we should have completed preliminary fundraising plans. At that point, we will finalize the budget.

Committee News and Notes

Library... Beacon Press has donated a book to our library titled Beacon Press and the Pentagon Papers. This book relates the history of Beacon publishing the papers after they were made public by Daniel Ellsberg. It contains many details that we may have forgotten, including the involvement of UU Senator Mike Gravel, Howard Zinn, Noam Chomsky, and the interference of the government by means of the F.B.I. It's a short but extremely interesting chapbook. There was a panel discussion at the 2007 GA about it, featuring Gravel, Ellsberg, and Robert West, and moderated by Amy Goodman. Also, as always, please remember that you need to sign the checkout notebook when you are borrowing something from the church library, and please return books and other items in a timely manner!

Landscape... Spring is surely right around the corner, and the Landscape Committee is in the midst of planning. Please contact Phil S. to join the committee.

Religious Education ... As always, if you have ideas and energy that you would like to contribute to our Religious Education program, your involvement on the committee would be welcome. Contact Kerry D. for more information.

Adult Religious Education ... The Adult Religious Education Committee would like to hear from anyone who has an area of religious or spiritual study they would like to explore, as well as from anyone who would like to lead a group on any area of religious or spiritual study. Please send your ideas to Greg V. Ideas of a more social nature will be sent to the social activities chairperson.

Social Activities ... The Social Activities Committee continues to seek your suggestions for fun activities. You can talk to anyone on the committee (Phil S., Al H., Joanne N., Kristen S., Kay S., or Sonia W.).

Simple Ways to Make Money for the Church

Recycle Ink Cartridges: Bring your used ink cartridges to church for recycling. This fits into our Green Sanctuary emphasis and also brings in money to LCUUC. Both ink jet and laser cartridges can be recycled. Look for the basket in the social hall. Questions? Contact Ginger G.

Visit Our Online Bookstore: LCUUC, in association with Amazon.com, presents books for sale that we feel may be of interest to visitors to the church's website. If you see a book listed on our website that you wish to purchase, follow the link we provide to Amazon.com's website, and place the order there. Amazon.com offers you a significantly discounted price on most books, and pays our church a sales commission on books sold through our website. Please be patient, as this bookstore may take a little extra time to download all the titles. Your order contract will be with Amazon.com, and Amazon.com will be entirely responsible for order processing and shipment to your doorstep or mailbox! Amazon.com uses a reasonably secure credit card payment system, and will inform you of their shipping charge before the order is confirmed.

To browse Amazon.com's database yourself, and still cause a smaller sales commission to be sent to LCUUC for any books you order, you may link to the Amazon.com homepage from the church website. Remember that it costs you nothing extra to direct this sales commission to LCUUC.

I Own This Church

I own this church.

Not because I have to. Not because somebody told me to. Not because I think I'll go to Hell if I don't. I choose to own this church, because I want to.

The joys of the members of this church are my joys. The sorrows of the members of this church are my sorrows. The children of this congregation are my children. The dreams of this congregation are my dreams.

I own the enlightenment of ideas on Sunday mornings, which challenge me to be my best self. I own the spirituality of the music, which moves me unlike any other musical experience. I own the vision of the religious education programs for children, youth and adults, which are uniquely our own, and uniquely essential to me. I own the community outreach of this church, which feeds hungry people in our neighborhoods, helps those in need in our country, and saves our planet by actions near and far. I own the connection between our church and the wider community of Unitarian Universalists, which expands our opportunities for learning and for outreach. I even own the UFO-like church building, the parking lot, the heating bill, the lawn, the employment and administration expenses, the green carpeting and the leaking roof. This is my church.

I don't own the church the way I own other things – I own the church more deeply. My house (the bank owns most of it), my car (ditto), my stereo (it's on the path of the 8-track player and turntable), these things are passing, disposable, recyclable, impermanent. In comparison, the church community I build today is here today, and will be here tomorrow with me, and my spirit will live here after I am gone, in the dreams and visions and hopes and prayers that I owned in the days that I was here. Life passes, the things of my life come and go, but I own a piece of the human experience that is larger than myself. I own this church.

It is soon the time to celebrate our community, in our annual stewardship campaign. My church is not mine alone. I hope you will be an owner too. Say this with me: "I own this church." That is the theme of our 2008 stewardship campaign. In the coming weeks you will hear more about the 2008 "I Own This Church" stewardship campaign. Members like you will share their stories in writing, in artwork, in spoken words, and in song. You will be given information about the campaign goals. If at any time you have any questions or concerns, or are looking for new ways to take ownership of the vision and programming of this church, please let me know.

This is a church of vision, not fear; conviction, not dogma; abundance, not scarcity; and I choose to take ownership accordingly. Our best days are ahead of us when we take ownership of our ideals. Take ownership with me, by giving lovingly and deeply with me, and we will build our Lake Country Unitarian Universalist Church community together.

Policy on Electronic Communication

The Lake Country Unitarian Universalist Church Policies Manual includes the following policy on Electronic Communication. The Board of Trustees adopted this policy on March 1, 2007.

As in all matters, members of LCUUC agree to abide by our Principles and Purposes when using electronic communication tools including e-mail and web pages. In particular, the following policies guide electronic communication.

1. To preclude violating the privacy rights of members of the LCUUC Community, members are expected not to:

a. use information technology resources to transmit private or personal information (e.g., e-mail addresses, phone numbers, etc.) without the express permission from the individual(s) affected;

b. broadly disseminate electronic communication intended for a single recipient without the sender's express permission.

2. In publicly accessible and searchable venues, individuals will be identified on a first name basis only, unless they give their explicit consent for their full name to be used, except for members and officers of the Board of Trustees, speakers at Sunday Services, ministers, and other staff.

3. The LCUUC member list is intended for dissemination of church-related information and to facilitate discussion among church members regarding issues of common interest. Each member has the responsibility to refrain from:

a. using the member list to disseminate information of a political nature or any other information that might jeopardize the Church's legal status;

b. sending "junk e-mail" (e.g., chain letters, advertising, etc.) to the member list;

c. flooding the member list with any form of communication.

4. Electronic communication that is unwelcome, repeated or has the intent or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's or group's performance, by creating a hostile, intimidating or offensive community environment constitutes harassment and is prohibited. If you receive unwanted e-mail, notify the sender that it is unwelcome. If the communication continues after the sender has been placed on notice, please contact the LCUUC Board of Trustees.

We will rotate partners to receive a wide experience of sensing energies. For classes 2–5 we will use tables to lie on for treatment, so please bring a camping mattress or padding to place on the table; a pillow and blanket are optional. Please call Laura L. with questions or to sign up.

Social Action / Green Sanctuary

Food/Needs Collections

Our monthly food/needs collection will take place during the service on Sunday, March 2. The month of March is designated for the Kettle Moraine Food Pantry, located at 705 E. Tomlin Road in Wales WI, on Hwy E going West from Hwy 83 (on the west end of the All Saints Lutheran church in Wales). The pantry is open for clients on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday from 10 to 11 a.m. (262-968-6466). Clients do have access to some refrigerated items as this food pantry has some limited storage for items that need refrigeration. Monetary as well as food need items are appreciated. Checks can be written to "Kettle Moraine Food Pantry." For March, let's have some fun — perhaps some green items or themed items would be nice to include. Think green foods of broccoli, beans, etc.

Thank you to Kathie G., who took the February donation of food and needs items to the Hartford food pantry located near the downtown area. The monetary donations collected in February were $174, mailed to the food pantry. If someone would like to volunteer to take the items to the Kettle Moraine food pantry, please contact Helen.

Day for Darfur

The Social Action Committee is brainstorming a fundraising/awareness day for Saturday or Sunday May 17 or 18. Our thoughts are to use our beautiful church grounds for a community fundraiser with bands (free offering), food, games, maybe a silent auction, etc. Please use your creative energies to help create a fun gathering. Contact Terry C. or Kerry D. with questions/comments/ideas.

Fluorescent lamp recycling

The Waukesha County recycling facility is open the 2nd Saturday of the month. There is a collection box in the Social Hall for your "dead" CFLs and a box in the utility room for "dead" fluorescent tubes. Handle the "dead" bulbs with care! Gerry F. dropped off bulbs last month.

Energy Audit at LCUUC

A consultant performed an energy audit of our building on January 31st to determine its sources of energy loss, and recommend remediation for these sources. This consultant has performed home energy audits for several of our members. Normally, he charges around $300 for this service, but performed our energy audit free of charge. A home energy audit help you save on your heating and electric bills. His findings were:

- Poor insulation at the top of the walls, around the windows, and between the sanctuary and attic; smaller insulation voids in numerous places in the outside walls.
- Air leaks in the window and door framework, and worn door weather-stripping.
- Overall, he concludes that air infiltration or drafts are currently costing our church about $650/year in heating costs.
- We didn't even talk about the roof insulation, as we already know it is inadequate!

What we can do:

- Caulk and weather-strip around the windows and doors.
- Wall insulation – outside wall insulation defects would require removing paneling to get at it. Attic wall insulation is accessible from the attic.
- Whenever we replace lighting, appliances, and office equipment, we should replace them with ENERGY STAR rated units.

Other Opportunities to Get Involved

- Joint RENEW Wisconsin / Sierra Club Committee of Global Warming. The purpose of this group is public education on global warming, and to advance Sierra Club initiatives such as "The 2% Solution" and "Cool Cities." Contact Gerry F. for more info.
- "Water-Wise 2008", March 15 at Carroll College. This is the 3rd annual conference advocating around water issues. Contact Mike B. for more info.

The Green Sanctuary Committee is open to all who are interested in things "green."
